Obituary.

Rousen.-Mary A. Rouseh was born in Welchburgbauger, Germany, July 12th, 1819, died in Henry county, O., January 4th, 1896, at the age of 76 years, 5 months and 22 days. To her union she was blessed with 8 children, 6 girls and 2 boys, 42 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren and a vast circle of friends and relatives to mourn her untimely departure. She was laid to her last resting place on Tuesday in the Knipp cemetery with Rev. Fisher officating. She was a kind mother and a hard worker and always tried to do others good and make others happy as well as herself. She bore he aches and pains patiently till the master called enough, thou faithful servant well done, and went to her long sleep in peace never to see this earth's sun rise nor set any more but to wake in glory up yonder in the city of pure gold where the sun never sets and the leaves never fade and to meet her loved ones gone on before, who have already worn the stary crown and sang the songs of melody, Peace to her ashes. Only waiting till the shadows,

Are a little longer grown,
Only waiting till the glimmer,
Of the days best beam is flown.
'Till the night of death has faded,
From the heart once full of day,
'Till the sters of heaven are breaking,
Through the twilingt and Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting till the reapers, like the last sheaf gathered home, For the summer tide has faded, And the autumn winds have come, Quickly reapers gather quickly
All the ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life is withered
And I hastened to depart.

Only waiting till the angels
Open wide the pearly gate,
At whose portals long I ve lingered,
Weary, poor, and desolate,
Even now I hear their footsteps

And their voices a far way, If they call me I am waiting, Only waiting to obey. Waiting for a brighter dwelling,
Than I ever yet have seen,
Where the tree of life is blooming,
And the fields are ever green,
Waiting for my full redemption,
When my Saviour shall restore
All that sin has caused to wither,
Age and sorrow come no more.

Education In Old Peru

Education was monopolized by the inca and the nobility. The teachers were called "amauta." The "quipu" were the books. The quipu was a small cord from one to two feet long, made of variously colored threads twisted together. From this, other smaller, thinger cords were hung, forming a fringe. All the cords were of different solors. The colors represented objects, such as gold, diver; cometimes white signified peacer red, war; but they were chiefly used for calculation. The frings and cord were tied into a number of knots, which stood for ciphers, and these, used in conjunction with the colors, could be made to represent any amount required. These quipu were also the records by which statistics from all parts of the coun-

The following incident happened at the Criterion theater in London the other evening. At the end of one of the scenes Mr. Wyndham tells a fellow actor to go down stairs and he will follow him in three minutes. Then, as he takes out his watch, the curtain should descend. On this occasion, however, it failed to do so, and the Squire of Dames reclined on the sofn, patiently waiting. An almost painful pause occurred. The curtain jerked, but would not fulfill its mission, and Mr. Wyndham, realizing the situation, again pulled out his watch, and said, "Ah, two minutes have passed." There was another pause, after which he arose and announce that "the time was up and he must go." As he left the stage the curtain at last descended, and Mr. Wyndham's ready
